They have handed Teibly's hat back to him and he should take the hat and go.

The wild west show, headed by one Teddy Roosevelt, which has been playing one night stands, with frequent interruptions in dates, is just about stranded, and likely to disband at any moment.

A PHILADELPHIA magistrate says that a man has no recourse when his wife goes through his pockets, taking her pick of the contents thereof. However, on the tile that what is ice cream for the goose is chocolate sundae for the gander, a man might go through his wife's pocket in return, except for the fact that he knows he never could find the pocket and that there would be nothing in it of value to him if he could.

WOMEN get a hearing from their sufferage plea in this country when ever they ask it. Congress and the legislatures tell them to come often and to be sure to mention the subject when they come. It was only when the British government told the man at the door not to let them in that they began throwing bricks. This shows that women are answerable to kindness.

BISHOP QUAIL says that the high cost of living is caused by everybody's trying to get the highest price for what he has to sell. Does the bishop remember the good old days when the grocer threw in a chromo with each pound of sugar that he gave away and when the farmer said that whoever would come and get a bushel of potatoes from his farm could have a barrel of apples as well to pay him for his trouble? Well, times are different now.

First Aid for the Burnt Child.

All children will play with fire unless they have been taught, either by precept or experience, not to do so, and accidents will happen even when every precaution has been taken. It is, therefore, most desirable, in the case of severe burns, that parents should know what—and above all what—not to do while waiting for the doctor to come.

The first thing is to fight shock with all the resources at command, because shock is usually the immediate cause of death. Too often shock is aggravated rather than helped by the treatment it receives.

Valuable time is wasted, and unnecessary agony caused, in trying to remove the clothing; then various applications of oil or whatever else the distracted bystanders may have heard was good for burns are made, until by the time the doctor arrives irretrievable mischief is done.

Do not waste time in any such way, but immediately prepare a warm salt-water bath, and gently place the child in it, clothes and all. If the clothes are much burned, the warm water will make them easier to remove, and the child can be kept in the bath until the pulse and the temperature show that a reaction from the shock has taken place. It will often be necessary for some strong and careful person to kneel and hold the patient in the best position.

Even after the child has been placed in bath with the proper dressing, the bath should be given again if there are indications that shock is returning. Always remember that speed is essential; even the slightest delay is dangerous.

Almost every one believes that in the case of burns, water is always harmful and oil always helpful. You will be wise to reverse the rule, and learn it by heart. In case of burns, fill the bath with warm water, adding salt in the proportion of a teaspoonful to a pint of water, and hold the child in it, clothes and all, until the doctor arrives.

Message of Amos Is Needed Today

By Rev. Henry A. Stinson, D.D., Pastor of Maohattan Congregational Church, New York,

It was in the days of King Amaziah of Judah and of Jerobam II in Samaria. These were both long and prosperous reigns in the middle of the eighth century before Christ. They were times of great luxury connected with the rapid growth of the two capital cities—Jerusalem and Samaria. The old religious habits had been largely set aside by the incoming of foreigners. The displacing of religion in the court had made worldliness fashionable, and with entire light-heartedness the people had given themselves up to the pursuit of pleasure.

Amos was a herdsman of small desert sheep on the hills of Judah, some dozen miles to the south of Jerusalem. He describes himself as a "pincher of wild figs," which evidently he gathered from time to time to supplement by their sale the small earnings of his poor flock. His home in the little village of Tekon was on a ridge some 3,000 feet above the Mediterranean.

Along with his flock he had before his eyes many a reminder of the God of his fathers who had brought them out of Egypt and, delivering them from the wilderness, had led them across the Jordan and had given them the promise of this land as their abiding inheritance. And now God was forgotten, and his people had fallen into the ways of the heathen.

As from time to time he went down to the town to sell his fleeces or his figs he was overwhelmed with what he saw.

Communing alone with God, the message of prophecy was given to him. It consists of three short addresses. The first pronounced the judgment of Jehovah upon the nations, the second his judgment upon his own people, warning them that because he had known them and loved them, therefore he would visit them in chastisement. In the third, containing our text, he warns them of their danger, exhorts them to return to Jehovah and recalls his vision of the blessedness that is awaiting them in the distant future.

"Bring your offerings," he says, "Keep your fasts, be followers of Jehovah in name. God is not deceived by hypocrisy. Religion is character; he sees through your shams; he knows the perversions of your hearts. They that lie in beds of ivory and stretch themselves on beds and couches; that eat lambs out of the flock and sing like songs to the sound of the viol; that drink wine in bowls and anoint themselves with chief oils and are not grieved with the affliction of Joseph, they shall go into captivity; their revelries shall pass away, for the Lord abhors the excellency of Jacob, and their houses shall be smitten."

In his distress over the people he cries unto the Lord: "Oh, Lord Jehovah, forgive, I beseech thee," and he has a vision of the turning away of the divine judgment. Then comes the text. The Lord stands with the plumb line in his hand and the plumb line becomes the graphic figure of the final word of God to his people.

So the plumb line was given to the prophet as the message to his people.

We rejoice as we apply this test to the Christianity of today. Let us see what its word is to us.

Let us look first to the gospel that we have to preach. That never was more distinctive than it is now as the gospel of Jesus Christ. We have gone through the period in which under the influence of the wonderful discoveries of science, rationalistic unbelief has swept over the land and turned many away from Jesus Christ. But that day was long passed and has been followed by another, in which men have been trying to find an acceptable substitute for Jesus Christ.

They have been running here and there after any form of religion, or of worship that claimed to be new, thought, or new philosophy, or new revelations, whether coming in the name of some mystery of Persia or India, or some device masking as religion or science from Boston. But men already have found not only that they cannot live without religion, but that today no religion will satisfy a man other than that which reveals God.

We have come back to the religion of the supernatural, of the miracles, and of the resurrection; in short, to the religion of the crucified and risen Christ. We must have a religion that fits the facts of human existence.

The Christian church also, however much it may have erred in the past, is aiming to produce the image of Christ in men. It accepts the challenge to be a promoter of human welfare and in a very social way, but that is not its ultimate aim; its aim always is to make better men, and it never was true, what has been so often charged against it, that it is so busy saving souls that it has not time to save men. Rather by means of saving souls it has been sure that it was saving men, and everywhere today the world is a tattered garment to see that it is the gospel rather than commerce or education, or the refinement of cultured society, which is changing the world.

Even after the child has been placed in bath with the proper dressing, the bath should be given again if there are indications that shock is returning. Always remember that speed is essential; even the slightest delay is dangerous.

HOARD'S DAIRYMAN.

A Journal Devoted Exclusively to Dairying and Dairy Stock Interests.

Hoard's Dairyman is the largest and most practical dairy farm paper published in the United States. Hoard's Dairyman shows a feeling interest and practical knowledge of all things about the farm.

Its editors are daily in the farm atmosphere and confronted with the same questions to solve that are before the farmer. Hoard's Dairyman talks good, hard farm sense about soils and crops and how to best handle them, talks over the good and bad points of cows; their breeding and products. Every conceivable question is considered that will interest the farmer who really wants to make more money and do better with his farm. It is intensely practical.

AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION

The Farm Special Train

The Agricultural Special train which is being prepared by the College of Agriculture of the State University and the State Department of Agriculture at Frankfort, to be run over the various roads of Kentucky, will be one of the best educational opportunities that has ever been offered to the people of Kentucky. Much time and money has been spent in the effort to make this train a "university on wheels", to be taken to the very doors of the people.

The specialists from the College will treat the various lines of agriculture that are to be presented and their work will be supplemented by the services of some of the most widely known authorities in the country on home economics and its branches.

Iowa "Hornets" Wish to Meet Old Foes.

The ninth reunion of the "Iowa Hornets' Nest Brigade" will be held on the battle field of Shiloh at Pittsburg Landing, Tenn., April 6 and 7, 1912. We extend to the Courier-Journal a cordial invitation to meet with us on that occasion. And we extend a most cordial invitation to all the old Confederate veterans who fought so gallantly and heroically on Shiloh's bloody field a half century ago. We want all the survivors of that battle, and especially those who were engaged in those terrific assaults in the "Hornets' Nest."

We have come back to the religion of the supernatural, of the miracles, and of the resurrection; in short, to the religion of the crucified and risen Christ. We must have a religion that fits the facts of human existence.

Good morning! Are you ready for Easter?

There is some evidence that spring has at last arrived.

Flowers for Easter can be had from Miss Lena Arnold.

All kinds fresh and salted meats at J. E. Coombs & Co.

Miss Lena Arnold was in Madisonville the first of the week, with her sister Mrs. L. R. Littlepage.

On account of washouts on the I. C. near McHenry, trains on the I. C. last Saturday were detoured through Owensboro between Central City and Louisville.

Fish Wednesday and Saturday at J. E. Coombs & Co.

Mr. Arthur Howard, who is with the Greenville Coal Co. at Martwick, spent a day or so here this week with his mother.

The committee has not been able yet to make selection of a lot on which to build the new Christian church. Several spots are under consideration, and it is thought a decision will be reached very soon, so that construction work may be started early in the season.

The farmer who two weeks ago was advocating calling it off for this year, so far as trying to raise a crop, is now hitting it as hard as you ever saw, and declaring that with proper effort this will be a banner crop year. And he is doubtless right about it, too.

Roark has the latest and most practical thing in curtain rods, and will be glad for you to call and see the display.

The Board of Directors of the V. M. C. A. will meet next Tuesday at 5 p.m. As this is the meeting at which the annual reports are received it is urged that every member be present.

A man with six bushels of coal in a two horse wagon required a six-mile team to help him out of a bad place in the road near town last Friday. Can anybody tell what such roads cost? Anybody knows that they cost many times as much as good roads would cost.

Property for Sale.

On account of my serious illness, I desire to sell my property on Main-cross street. Will sell home and contents, grounds, chickens, store room and stock. Sale will be made as a whole or separately, to suit purchasers.

Mrs. M. E. Martin.

There will be a fair crowd here most of next week, attending the special term of court, as several important murder trials will be in progress, demanding the presence of many witnesses to each.

Whatever you do, make no arrangements that will prevent your meeting that special farm train that will arrive here next Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The train is having a triumphal journey through the State, and is being met by hundreds and thousands of people at the various stops, and arousing the greatest enthusiasm, creating new interest in cultivation of the land, and showing and telling farmers how to improve in their management.

Thomas Woodward, charged with the murder of Roy Blanks at Nortonville about three weeks ago, had an examining trial at Madisonville last Friday, and while the Commonwealth introduced only a few of its witnesses, the boy was held without bail to the grand jury on a charge of wilful murder, and is in jail at Madisonville. The case looks strong against Woodward, but the defense introduced no witnesses. It is thought, however, that the defense will admit the killing, but will plead self-defense, as it is said that Blanks is known to have made threats to kill the boy and his father, and as Blanks had killed two men, was generally feared by anyone with whom he had trouble.

The New Street Law.

The new law passed by the legislature empowering the city council of all cities to direct the building of streets, cost of same to be borne by the property owners, as published by us last week, has attracted the widest attention. And the gratifying feature is that there is a most hearty endorsement of the law, and dozens of the largest property owners are advocating the building of streets and sewers under this plan. There is no way here to secure these things unless paid for by the owner, and he is really the one who should pay, for he receives the benefits. Under the old law, most towns, with restricted revenues, could only improve and maintain the principal streets, and the outer bounds of the towns received no benefits. By this plan, all streets may be built up, and the cost will not be burdensome on any, as the cost is divided between the owners on each side. The councilmen have the assurance of many of the leading land owners that the law is satisfactory, and the council is being urged to plan a general adoption of it, and inaugurate a wide movement for the building of streets as soon as the season opens.

Section 1. The City Council is hereby authorized and empowered to order any work they may deem necessary to be done upon the sidewalks, curbing, sewer, streets, avenues, highways, and public places of such city. The expenses incurred in making and repairing sidewalks and curbing shall be paid by the owners of the lands, fronting and abutting thereon, each lot or portion of lot being separately assessed for the full value thereof, in proportion to the frontage thereof to the entire length of the whole improvement, not exceeding a square, sufficient to cover the total expense of the work; but the owners of such property shall have the right to make such improvements, if they prefer doing so, instead of paying for the same. The cost and expenses incurred in constructing or re-constructing streets, avenues, highways, sewers and public places shall be paid out of a general fund of the City or by the owners of the land fronting and abutting thereon, as the City Council may in each case determine; or if the City Council may order and direct that two thirds only of said cost and expenses so incurred shall be paid by the owners of the lands fronting and abutting thereon, as the City Council may in each case determine; or if the City Council may order and direct that the local assessments shall not exceed fifty per centum of the value of the ground after such improvement is made, excluding the value of the buildings and other improvements upon the property so improved.

The cost of constructing or reconstructing the intersection or crossing of streets, avenues and highways shall be at the expense of the city. Each subdivision or territory bounded on all sides by principal streets shall be deemed a square. When the territory contiguous to any public way is not defined into squares on either or both sides by principal streets, the ordinance providing for the improvement for such public ways shall be the depth on the side or sides not defined in the square fronting said improvement, to be assessed for the cost of making the same, according to the number of square feet owned by the parties, respectively, within the depth set out by or defined.

Section 2. Whenever the City Council shall determine upon the construction or reconstruction of streets, avenues, highways, sewers and public places at the expense of the abutting or partial expense of the abutting property, as provided in section one of this Act they shall cause the same to be done as follows:

The ordering of such improvement shall be by ordinance of the City Council, and the contract therefore shall be awarded to the lowest and best bidder after proper advertisement for bids. The City Council shall require the accepted bidder to execute a bond to the city with good and sufficient security to be approved by said Council for the faithful performance of his contract.

Section 3. The original construction or reconstruction of any streets, avenues, highways, alleys, sewers and public places may be made at the exclusive cost of the owners of the lots and parts of lots or lands fronting or abutting, or bordering upon the proposed improvements to be equally apportioned by the City Council according to the number of front feet owned by them respectively, or in part at the cost of the owners and in part at the cost of the city, upon the petition of a majority of the property owners of lots or parts of lots, or land abutting or bordering upon the

New Law on Pavement and Sewer Construction.

Below we publish three sections covering the essential features of the new law providing for street and sewer construction in towns and cities. This offers great relief on a most important matter, as most of our smaller cities could never provide and maintain such necessities from their revenues. Even if bond issues could be voted (a hard thing to do) the amount so available under the provisions of the old law was entirely inadequate. This is a needed and proper solution of the matter, and will afford means of developing every city in the state.

For many years this has been the law governing the larger Kentucky cities, only, while in all the northern, eastern and western states, almost, the law for a long while has been similar to our new law.

Section 1. The City Council is hereby authorized and empowered to order any work they may deem necessary to be done upon the sidewalks, curbing, sewer, streets, avenues, highways, and public places of such city. The P.D.P. is the best vaccine ever prepared. As it is listed at every drug store it is easily obtained over here. Every child of the age of 10 months
should have had two doses of this vaccine. Both will be well protected against smallpox. This would put the P.D.P. out of forty years, and would not be destroyed by the smallpox virus.

The P.D.P. should be used as a preventive. It is a preventive against
chicken pox, measles,
croup, diphtheria, whooping cough, mumps, and other diseases.

When the children are about 10 months old, they should have two doses of the P.D.P. This will protect them from all these diseases.

Very truly yours,
Dr. Sheoop, Louisville, Ky., and the manufacturer of the P.D.P.
